BUYER'S GUIDE

How to read our specs

A quick key to the terms used on each product page.

- AGL — Average Grain Length
The mean length of milled grains in millimetres. Longer grains are generally more premium and command higher value.
- Moisture
Water content as a percentage. Lower moisture ($\leq 13\text{--}14\%$) supports cleaner storage and stable shelf life.
- Broken grains
The share of broken kernels. A lower percentage indicates a higher grade and a cleaner, more uniform cook.
- Sella / Parboiled
Rice partially boiled in the husk before milling — firmer, separate grains. Golden Sella has a natural golden hue; Creamy/White Sella is paler.
- Steamed & White
Steamed rice is gently processed for a soft texture; White is raw-milled and polished for everyday use.
- Brown / Wholegrain
The bran layer is retained for a nuttier flavour and higher fibre.
